A Song

Forbear my friends forbear & ask me more Where all my Chearfull airs are fled Why will you make me talk my Sorrows & ever my life my joys my comforts dead deep from my soul mark how the Sobs arise Hear the long Sighs that wait my Breath

And view the mighty Sorrows in my Eyes Lovely Daphnia Steepe in Bath unkind deers to veil that Rosy face With tannours of a mortal Pale While mortals Purple with a dismal Grace and Noble horrors Spoat the veil uncomely veil & most unkind deers Is this Daphnia once the fair

Are these the features that were born to please When beauty spread her Ensigns there

I had All Love and She was All Delight Let me Run Back to seasons past in flowing days when first she Charm'd my sight But Rosies will not allways last

Such was Daphnia's Doubt Celestial view
An angler's food was her bequest Dedication was her work & then she drew Delight which Mangers never taste

Oh that I had see on Board
